

Bryant S. West

Technical Editor Conference Coordinator

Mr. West joined Sonoma Technology in 2015. As a member of the Publications Group, he assists Sonoma Technology's technical authors by editing scientific reports, journal manuscripts, proposals, and other technical documentation for clarity, consistency, and accuracy. His editing experience has included such topics as air quality, transportation, meteorology, wildfire protection, and engineering. He also provides bibliographic support for technical projects and is proficient at formatting documents in accordance with specified style guides. As conference coordinator, Mr. West helps formulate Sonoma Technology's conference marketing strategies and works with authors to edit posters, papers, presentations, and abstracts for a range of national and international scientific, environmental, and litigation conferences.

Mr. West also helps deploy Sonoma Technology's Kids Making Sense® program, an environmental education curriculum that teaches students about air quality using hand-held air quality sensors and mobile phones to monitor and analyze air pollution.

Mr. West worked as a copywriter, editor, and designer for the 2018 redesign of Sonoma Technology's corporate website (sonomatech.com), and regularly creates and updates content on the site. He trains and advises staff on technical writing, grammar, and the use of corporate social media.

Before joining Sonoma Technology, Mr. West served in editorial and design roles for the UC Davis Extension office and HydroScience Engineers in Sacramento, California. He is an experienced user of both the Microsoft Office Suite and the Adobe Design Suite, and has led and assisted in the design, development, and production of flyers, presentations, websites, and other outreach and marketing materials.

Mr. West graduated from Saint Mary's College of California with a BA in English and a concentration in Creative Writing. During his time at Saint Mary's, Mr. West served as editor-in-chief of the award-winning Collegian newspaper, where he worked with a staff of student editors and writers to ensure the production of consistent, accurate, and engaging content. He also spent three years as the beat writer for the men's basketball team during a high point in the college's athletic history.

Education

- BA, English, Saint Mary's College of California

Memberships

- Society for Professional Journalists